

Seminar on Potentials and Prospects of Japan-India Cooperation in Automotive Industry

The automotive sector of India is one of the largest in the world, a pillar of the Indian economy and a key driver of macroeconomic growth and technological advancement.

The Deming Prize and the TQM Journey

The Deming Prize awarded to organizations has exerted an immeasurable influence directly and indirectly on the development of Quality in Japan. Organizations developed effective quality management methods, established the structures for implementation and put the methods into practice. Witnessing the success of these organizations, many other organizations have been inspired to begin their own quest for quality management. Learning from those who went before them, the new practitioners are convinced that quality management is an important key to their business success and that the challenge to attain the Deming Prize is a tool for improving and transforming the business management .

About the Seminar

The Seminar provides a platform to the auto component manufacturers to understand and associate themselves towards their roadmap to Quality Management while treading the path of the mentor.
